MR MANNING'S FUNERAL.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND AND OTHER GREAT OFFICIALS PRESENT.

Funeral Trains Take Thousands to Pay the Last Tribute of Respect to the Late Secretary of the Treasury—A Profusion of Fragrant Flowers—Notes.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 28.—It was just eight o'clock this morning when the West Shore train bearing the presidential party rolled into the depot. The party were all up, and when the train came to a stand still ex-Mayor Banks, Col. William Rice, Col. C. L. Judson and Erastus Corning boarded it and met the party, which consisted of the president, Col. Lamont and the members of the cabinet. They took carriages and were driven to the executive mansion where breakfast was served for the party. The president looked well but seemed to be greatly depressed by the motive of his visit.

Besides the presidential party there arrived from Washington the following: employees of the treasury department: Comptroller Durham, Fourth Auditor Shelby, Supervising Architect Frerer, Ed. Graves, chief of the bureau of engraving and printing; R. S. Miller, chief of the bureau of loans and currency; Chief Clerk Youmans, Assistant Secretary Maynard, Comptroller Trenholm, Third Auditor Williams, T. D. Kelleher, Superintendent of the Treasury building Walsh, G. W. Albright and Sixth Auditor McConville.

On the noon train from the Metropolis came over a hundred distinguished men, among whom were ex-mayors Cooper and Grace, Senators Murphy and Daly, Congressman Campbell and Col. John R. Fellows. All the day long until the hour of the funeral trains brought large delegations from every part of the state, and it is doubtful whether the city has ever had such a concourse of prominent people within its gates except on a day of a celebration.

Senators, assemblymen, congressmen, judges, citizens, all came to pay their tribute of respect to the dead. The body lay in a cloth-covered casket in the parlor of the house, No. 142 Lancaster street, the residence of Mr. James H. Manning, and upon it were crossed portieres and at the foot a profusion of carnations and white roses. The silver plate bore this inscription:

Born August 16, 1837.
DANIEL F. MANNING.
Died December 24, 1887.

From 9 until 11 a. m. the personal friends of Mr. Manning were permitted to look upon the face of the dead, which appeared life like, save for the impress left by the struggle for life. The callers were from all stations in life, and the men whose names are historical with those whose lot is humble in the last mark of respect to the departed. Late in the forenoon many of the out-of-town people paid a visit, and as President Cleveland, Col. Lamont and members of the cabinet ascended the stoop and entered, the bells were ringing the noon hour. The president paused as soon as a place was made clear for him and for a moment looked steadfastly down upon the face of the man who had proved such a rare friend and counselor, whose services to his party, to his country and to his God were loyal, true and devoted.

Shortly before 1:30 the Rev. Dr. Reese offered prayer at the house, only members of the family being present. The sad leave-taking had its tearful ending, the lid was closed and the coffin was borne to the hearse by six stalwart foremen of the mechanical department of the Argus establishment. The pallbearers were the following: Charles J. Canda, of New York, vice president of the New Western National bank, of which Mr. Manning was president; Sidney Webster, of New York, one of the ex-secretary's most intimate friends while at Washington; United States Senator A. P. Gorman, of Maryland; C. N. Jordan, of New York; Congressman Randall, of Philadelphia; Munton Marble, of New York; Judge Rufus W. Peckham, Simon W. Rosendale, of Albany; Erastus Corning, John H. Van Antwerp, of Albany; ex-Senator Roscoe Conkling, of New York; and Pascal P. Pratt, president of the Manufacturers' bank, of Buffalo.

The funeral procession proceeded down the street and to St. Paul's church in the block below. At 1:30 o'clock, as the people began to arrive, the organist Mr. George Edgar Oliver, sounded the opening chords of Chopin's march, "Funere," and then followed a choice program of appropriate music. As the last strains of Gounod's march was concluded, the cortege reached the church and the main doors were opened. The coffin was borne from the hearse, being met at the entrance by the rector of St. Paul's, the Rev. J. Livingston Reese, Bishop Doane, the Rev. Mr. Pawley, Rev. Dr. E. N. Patterson, of Hobart college, the Revs. Dr. Battershell, Canon Robbins, Canon Fulcher, Mr. Swartz, Mr. Woolman, Mr. Kenyon, Mr. Gray, Mr. Chapman and Mr. Solkirk. As the procession marched up the aisle Dr. Reese began the reading of the burial service, beginning, "I Am the Resurrection and the Life."

The coffin was placed upon the bier which was covered with evergreens and palms. When these composing the procession were seated, the doors were again opened and the side aisles and available spaces were filled. It was the most distinguished gathering of men Albany has ever seen before at a funeral of one of her sons. The chant to the burial palm, "Lord, let me know my end," was the familiar air by Felton, and was given with fine feeling by the choir of sixty voices. Spohis. "Blessed are the departed" was then sung.

Dr. Reese then read the usual lesson from the first epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians, "Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept." The anthem, "I heard a voice from heaven," with alto, solo and female chorus, composed for the occasion by Mr. George Edgar Oliver was rendered with fine effect. Prayers by Bishop Doane were followed by more singing, and as the bishop pronounced the words of benediction, the choir sang "Asleep in Jesus." The casket was again taken to the hearse, the barouches were entered and the procession to the cemetery was begun. The floral tributes in the church were many.

New York, Dec. 28.—Private information received yesterday at the New York Yacht Club contained the information that a challenge for the American cup is on its way over from England. It is understood that the challenging yacht is the cutter Ilex.

ADDITION TO CHICAGO.

Hyde Park Swallowed Up in a Municipal Vortex.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The territory of the village of Hyde Park, recently annexed to the city of Chicago, extending its southern boundaries and adding a population of 75,000 souls to the growing metropolis, was to-day formally incorporated by the nomination of aldermanic candidates. The newly added territory will be included in the municipality as the Twenty-fifth ward. The Republican convention will meet to-morrow and nominate two candidates. The Democratic candidates will be announced later in the week. "Tommy" Morgan, the Anarchist orator of Hyde Park, who called a meeting at plasterers' hall last week for the purpose of attempting to "vindicate" himself, took the step, it is said, simply as a preliminary to secure the nomination of the Labor party, which is strong in the district, for a seat in municipal council. His career as an Anarchist agitator, however, appears to have been too marked to commend him to the voters of the party and the Socialistic element in the new ward is not strong enough to return him.

GREAT SLAUGHTER.

Sanguinary Engagement Between Federal and Rebel Forces in Guatemala.

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 28.—A revolution, headed by the ex-president of Guatemala, Vincente Castano, against the government of Gen. Barillas, for having proclaimed a dictatorship, June 19, lately suffered a most humiliating defeat. There were two disaffected factions, one working from the eastern department and the other from the western, the former under the generalship of Castano and the latter in charge of several well known military men of the republic.

In a range of mountains near the city of Guatemala, a few days ago, a desperate battle was fought between the Federal and Revolutionist forces, the latter suffering almost complete annihilation. The battle was desperate and sanguinary from the commencement and lasted over two hours, the field being strewn with the dead. At the conclusion, Castano was routed and the other revolutionary generals were captured and shot.

Heavy Judgement.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 28.—Judgement for $25,000 was rendered yesterday in the case of C. B. Eichholtz, against the directors of the Arkansas Valley Agricultural association. Eichholtz represented the stockholders in the concern, who objected to the management of the directors, and dissolved the association by a large majority of votes. Just prior to this the directors it was charged, issued to themselves at $5 each 410 shares of stock remaining unused, which shares were valued at $5 each. These shares had been held by the association since its formation, and $5 was their original value.

What New York Tobacco Men Want.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 28.—A meeting of tobacco growers and others assembled at Baldwinsville Saturday and passed resolutions asking congress to abolish the war tax on tobacco and to revise the Sumatra tariff law of 1883. Representatives were present from several counties. A non-partisan organization was perfected. Several speeches were made. The meeting resolved to request congress to protect the growers against foreign producers and declared in favor of a duty of seventy-five cents per pound on imported cigar leaf.

Peace in Guatemala.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 28.—In a range of mountains near the City of Guatemala a few days ago a desperate battle was fought between the Federal and Revolutionist forces, the latter suffering almost complete annihilation. The field being strewn with the dead. At the conclusion Castano was routed and the other Revolutionary generals were captured and shot. This ends one of the most bloody wars the country has ever seen. The republic now enjoys peace.

Stabbed in the Neck.

Eaton, the colored steward of the steamer. Flannigan was taken to the Pennsylvania hospital in a dangerous condition. Eaton was arrested and locked up. ## An Officer's Revolver.

WESTON, Va., Dec. 28.—Constable Henry Moore, deliberately shot and killed Samuel Mullen, at Nicholas court house last evening. Mullen was drunk and when placed under arrest by the officer, refused to go with him to jail. A struggle ensued, in which the officer lost his temper and drawing his revolver shot Mullen through the head. There is great excitement over the killing, and the indignation against Moore may lead to summary vengeance by the friends of the dead man.

THE BIG STRIKE SETTLED.

THIRTY THOUSAND IDLE MEN RESUME WORK.

Arbitration to Settle All the Little Differences—The Five Crews Over Which the Trouble Originated Will Be Supported By the Employees—Other Labor News.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The strike of the Reading railway employees was ordered off at an early hour this morning and the men returned to work to-day. Once yesterday the big strike had been declared settled, and again late last night it came within an ace of reaching a happy termination through arbitration. A few sharp words brought the cloud again over the sky, but they soon cleared away this morning.

During the afternoon a committee of the men visited by invitation the headquarters of the Reading railway on South Fourth street, and discussed the questions at issue with General Superintendent Swigard. The best of feeling prevailed, and so good were the effects of the meeting considered by the superintendent that he sent out this message to several of the chief officers of the road.

"The strike is settled and men will return to work."

The good news spread quickly and excited considerable comment among those admitted to the secret. But there was still another meeting to be held. During the evening the committee, headed by John Nelly and John Lee, visited the general superintendent's office, at Ninth and Green streets, and the disputed matters were again thoroughly discussed and the understanding had been reached that the men were to go to work this morning and that the controversy would be settled afterward by a committee of the men and representatives of the company.

As the conference was about to break up Mr. Lee made a remark about the membership of the men's committee.

"I will not, of course," said Mr. Sevigard in reply, "treat with the men as Knights of Labor. They must come as employees of the Reading Railroad company."

"That settles it," said Mr. Kelly, and he walked to the door. The other committee-men followed him, and they left the room. The committee then returned to their meeting place in Port Richmond and reported to the convention of employees. After a three hours discussion the strike was declared off, and at 1 o'clock this morning the men were ordered to return to work.

The five crews over whom the trouble originated are to be supported by financial aid from the employees pending arbitration.

Everybody at Work.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The following dispatch was received from Philadelphia at the office of President Corbin of the Reading company: "Every man returned this morning and all trains are running as usual. All the engines were taken out by the old crews and the superintendent says that by 10 o'clock all work will be going on as usual. At all stations in this city the men are showing up and the present indications are that all business will soon be working as usual. Just heard from Reading. All reported for work this morning as usual."

The News From Reading.

READING, Pa., Dec. 28.—Matters on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad to-day wears an old time appearance. The first coal trains, the cars of which have been lying on the sidings since Friday, commenced moving this morning, and by to-morrow the officials expect to have everything in operation as before. It is believed that the action of the employees' convention in this city yesterday, positively refusing to strike at the dictates of the Knights of Labor, and the sending of a committee to Port Richmond counselling a settlement of the difficulties, had much to do with bringing about the downfall of the great strike. Telegrams received at the headquarters of the Reading road early this morning from many points say that the knights have obeyed.

Strike on the Coal Piers.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Owing to the strike at the Richmond coal piers a number of schooners will leave to-day for Baltimore, where there are no labor troubles, and an abundance of Baltimore coal. At the New England seaports vessel owners have instructed their captains to avoid this port until the labor troubles shall have been settled. A number of vessels bound here left the Delaware capes last night for Norfolk for orders.

LIKE A WILD BEAST.

An Unknown Man Found Living in a Cave. He Speaks a Strange Tongue.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Last night an unknown and almost wild man was found lying in a cave that he had made in the wood near Morris park, not far from Jamaica, L. I. The authorities at Jamaica were informed, and officer Smith took him to Jamaica and locked him up in the town hall. He has been asked questions in a half a dozen different languages, but his replies are unintelligible. It was thought that he gave the name of Hassan. He is very ragged and filthy. The prisoner's cave was found to be about four feet deep, about five feet long and three feet wide. He was found reclining at his ease and smoking. He had arranged a screen of trees on the north side of the cave to keep away the wind. The south side had an opening. He had a fire in the cave and a number of flat stones therein which were heated. It is said he has been there for some time. He was discovered about a week ago by a German living on Wyckoff avenue. He has been supplying him with food. His appearance is wild in the extreme and would indicate that he has been burrowing in the earth for some time. Shells of nuts indigenous to the locality were found in the cave. A reporter endeavored to have a conversation with the wild man, but could get nothing definite from him. He is probably a Pole. He told a man his name was John Henry or Hanson. His words are guttural and hardly belong to any language. He will be sent to Barnum's island.

WOE AT WAKEFIELD.

The Town Burning and in the Hands of Thieving Mob.

WAKEFIELD, Mich., Dec. 28.—The lawless element had full control of the town during the progress of the fire. Hundreds of shots were fired by the roughs to intimidate merchants who were endeavoring to save some of their stock. They went into a number of stores in a body, and while some of them would cover the inmates with revolvers others would be robbing the stores of the most valuable goods.

The whisky secured from the large number of saloons in the block made the men perfect demons, and people who had property stood by aghast.
